4. Seaplane Meeting Stubenbergsee 2018

7.-9. September 2018
Invitation

You are welcome to come and enjoy seaplane landings in the most eastern part of the Alps. The scenery around the small Stubenberg Lake is lovely and exciting. This unique seaplane fly-in in the mountainous part of Austria will continue this year to be “a very pleasant and homely meeting and a good chance to meet like-minded pilots and enthusiasts in a casual and relaxed atmosphere “.

Seaplane pilots coming by seaplane:

Please keep in mind that this is a mountain lake, located in confined area, asking for good, valid pilot skills and STOL characteristics of your seaplane. Check your manual for performance and ask yourself about your experience and validity.

Due to Austrian regulations we have to apply for a permit to land for each participating seaplane and each pilot in command, but this will be done by the organizer for you for free, so please complete the registration form and return

ASAP to us via E-Mail pilot@aviator.at or via Fax +43 1 271 94 18 and than just come and enjoy:

Other visitors:

You are welcome to share the unique atmosphere of this event with us. The view is spectacular: you will seldom experience in Europe seaplanes taking off and landing on the water just in front of you like during this event.

Watching seaplanes is not enough for you?

Jump in and make some water landings with one of our experienced pilots. We will offer once again short trips with some water landing on a self cost basis.

Are you a pilot interested to find out more about seaplane flying?

You can arrange a longer flight with a seaplane class instructor. You can get some additional explanations for better understanding what makes seaplane flying so different from the land airplanes.

Any questions?
